I believe

"Without permanent personal development at all levels, the foundation for sustainable corporate success is missing."

I deliver

"New perspectives and extraordinary solutions."

I create

"Strong personalities, excellent results and an exceptional company"

Andreas Bellof – Expert for holistic corporate management.

Andreas has vast experience as a technical director and in management positions of international organisations. He was a member of the management at LEICA for 5 years before he was self-employed as a managing partner for more than 15 years.

Various work experiences abroad in the USA, Africa and Asia underline his expertise and enable him to think globally.

He has completed over 1,000 hours of intensive training and method training, including at the Boston Business School and the Management Program at St. Gallen University on topics such as leadership, communication, project management, sales, Lean Six Sigma, and organisational development.
